Join us to hear Shawn Simons and Alvaro Llanos share the story of their survival during a dormitory fire at Seton Hall University on January 19, 2000, where three of their fellow classmates passed away and 56 others were injured. Their story is one of survival, perseverance, inspiration, hope, courage, and friendship. They inspire to motivate students and professionals that life will give you many obstacles. It's how you overcome those obstacles by drawing strength, knowledge, and motivation from those around you. With these tools in life's endeavors, they prove that there is life "After the Fire."
